General Statement on RF Energy

The phone is a low-power radio transmitter and receiver. When switched on it intermittently transmits radio frequency (RF) energy (radio waves). The transmit power level is optimized for best performance and automatically reduces when there is good quality reception. Maximum power is only used at the edge of network coverage so under most circumstances the power output is very low. Under poor network conditions the phone transmits at a higher power, may get hot and have a shorter battery life.

Specific Absorption Rate (SAR)

The phone is designed not to exceed the limits for exposure to radio waves recommended by the ICNIRP. The limits include safety margins designed to assure the protection of all persons, regardless of age and health.

The guidelines measure the Specific Absorption Rate, or SAR. The SAR limit for mobile devices is 2W/Kg and the highest SAR value for this device is 1.15 W/Kg.

• Keep your handset and battery cool. High temperatures degrade the battery more quickly.
• Normal charge time is 3-4 hours. Do not leave on charge for more than 24hrs.
• After 2-3 charge / discharge cycles the battery life will improve. From then on use top up charging to recharge frequently and always charge promptly when flat.
• When not using the phone for long periods charge to approx 40% and remove the battery.
• With poor network conditions (less than 2 bars) battery life is reduced.
• Turn off Bluetooth when not in use to extend battery life.
